It seems that the page fault handler should be place before initialize virtual memory. So I made this change in kernel.C.
So please also replace the kernel.C as well